Farm Relief Major Topic, U.F.A. Caucus

Edmonton, Nov. 6.—After three days of deliberations, United Farmers of Alberta members of the legislature adjourned on Saturday evening, not to meet again probably until the legislature convenes toward the end of January or early in February.

Throughout the three days, the major portion of the discussion revolved around the welfare of the farm relief.

It was learned fairly definitely that the tentative time for the next provincial general election would be about June 15 or between June 15 and 20th.

It was also learned on good authority that the government is seriously considering passing up the by-election to fill the legislative seat left vacant by the death of C. L. Gibbs, Labor, Edmonton.

The feeling of all parties is that a by-election at this time will serve no good purpose. All are demanding a general election and in view of its imminence it is believed they will raise no strenuous objections to passing up the by-election, provided the government soon makes it known in a general way, the approximate general election date, which will be about the middle of June.

Debt adjustment, farm relief, probing of gas prices and many other topics were discussed, some of which may lead to minor amendments of some acts at the next session.

The editorial content has the right spirit. Here is a passage:

"Some day in Canada away in the future, the last veteran of the Great War, that was fought to save civilization and make our country fit for heroes to live in, will be trundled to his grave.

Things They Will Forget
"And, one supposes, the newspapers of the future will make a terrific lullaby for him. They will tell of the great feats of arms, the tremendous sacrifices, the heroism, endurance and privations of the Canadian Soldiers.

"Will they also tell of the heart-breaking struggle that followed the war, when men, who had given their blood and limbs, had to fight a battle almost as hard, and certainly more heart-rending, for the recognition which their country ordered should be given them, but which was withheld from them?"

"The newspapers won't say anything about that. It is not a pleasant thing to recall."—Canadian Legionary.

United Church Notes

There are some changes in the services to be held next Sunday, which is Remembrance Day. The Irma Sunday school will meet at 10 a.m. instead of 11 a.m. in order to give all the opportunity of attending the Remembrance Day service in the hall. Please note that this service begins at 10:45 a.m., so that we have the time to observe the two minutes silence at 11 a.m.

The service at Alma Mater will be withdrawn and the congregation is asked to attend in town. The service at Albert will begin at 2:30 p.m. and Miss Hambley, a missionary from west China will be the speaker. There will be the usual evening service at 7:30 p.m., at which Miss Hambley will address the congregation. The pastor will be in charge. It is only on rare occasions that we have the opportunity of hearing missionaries on furlough; and it is a real sacrifice on the part of missionaries to use so much of their furlough in visiting the churches, that we should give them a real welcome. It is urged upon all to attend these services.

We have had a crowded week-end with our anniversary services, and the services were largely attended, both in town and country. Dr. A. S. Tuttle of St. Stephen's College was the guest preacher at all the points and his messages were well received and appreciated. On Monday, we had the largest anniversary gathering in recent years. Well over two hundred were seated in their turn at the tables and so careful were the preparations that there was enough for all. The favourable weather helped considerably to make this occasion a great success. There was a short program after the supper in which the junior choir, Mrs. N. Parks, Miss E. York and the Rev. R. W. Griffith of Jarrold took part. The thanks of the board to all who had contributed to the success of the anniversary was expressed by the pastor, who then called upon Dr. H. Dobson to give his address. Dr. Dobson is a dynamic speaker and he kept the sustained interest of the audience for an hour and a half. He gave a very timely message and urged a greater loyalty to the principles of the teaching of Jesus.

The Alma Mater and Roseberry Ladies' Aid held their supper and sale of work in the Roseberry school last Friday, which also was an unqualified success. The ladies were almost swamped by the crowds which came, and the large school grounds presented quite a scene with dozens and dozens of cars. Here, too, was foretold and the ladies were well prepared. The tables were constantly replenished with food and guests until all were satisfied. The short program which followed was well received. The following contributed to the program: Mrs. Orton, Catherine Patterson, Mr. C. Saville, Junior Williamson, Betty McLean and Mr. Foxwell. The chairman, the Rev. J. R. Geeson, expressed the thanks of the Ladies' Aid to all who had helped in any way to make the occasion a success.

In Flanders' Fields

In Flanders' fields, the poppies blow,
Between the crosses, row on row
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly,
Scarce heard amid the guns below.
We are the dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders' fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe!
To you from failing hands we throw
The torch. Be yours to lift it high!
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies blow
In Flanders' fields.

POPPY DAY

Poignant reminder of those spacious days of glory and grieving. "Poppy Day" once more recurs to prompt the citizens of this country in the duties they have inherited from the past generation. To Canadian youth in this year of grace, the deep-red petals of the Poppy may not carry the same significance they bore to the youth of sixteen years ago. The symbolism of sacrifice with which the Poppy has become charged is something to which the present generation succeeds only through the wistful memories of the ageing men who fought their Country's battles, who suffered privations, endured long agonies and finally triumphed amid surroundings carpeted with Poppies.

To wear this humble emblem on Poppy Day is to proclaim that amid all the jangling confusion through which this country is striving valiantly to penetrate, the heart and mind are nevertheless attuned to a sense of homage due those men whose peace inspired 600,000 Canadians to offer themselves for service between 1914 and 1918; of that number 60,000 found graves in France and Belgium. And it is over those graves that the Poppy blows in perennial bloom.

The numbered dead were not strangers. They were young Canadians, filled even as the youth of today is filled, with the joy of living. So also, were the 170,000 men who in 1934 bear upon their bodies the marks and scars of war—the disabled ex-service men who suffered disablement on behalf of Canada.

To manifest that proud recognition of their place in this Country, to mark that tribute which is their due, Poppy Day has been set aside in order that all may join in recalling the Great Sorrow.

The blood-red emblems distributed throughout Canada by the Canadian Legion's vast volunteer organization are the product of disabled veterans, men striving to maintain themselves in the Veterans Shops administered by the Dominion Government. To purchase a Poppy is a small thing. For every citizen to do so is a big thing. Let us all wear a Poppy on Poppy Day.

IS YOUR NAME ON THE LIST?

Enumerators are now finished with the work of making up the voters' lists in Irma and surrounding rural polls. Posting of the lists is also completed, giving to the public an opportunity to scan them and make notes as to who might have been omitted. The public is warned that the responsibility for seeing that one's name is on the list is placed upon each individual, by the new Election Act. If the enumerator has failed to enter your name, you should examine the list immediately, as on November 13, 14 and 15 revision of the lists will be undertaken by the enumerators. After November 15th, the voters' list in every riding in Canada will be considered as complete and any names lacking from the lists cannot be added. This stands as permanent voters' list. Revision of the list will, however, take place in the Spring of each year, but there is no more "swearing in" of voters at the polls. If your name is not on the list you cannot vote.

Running For Office

An out-of-state friend met an acquaintance on the scorching streets of a Missouri town.

"Well, well," the visitor exclaimed, "I didn't even know you lived here, Jim. How in the world are you getting along?"

"Not so good. I've been running for office."

"How'd you come out?"
"I ain't sure. I started out with a good car and put 3,264 miles on it. Ruined three tires and a paint job. I jerked a fender off on a bridge railing and a good for nothing crew who was riding with me one day threw a match on the cushion and burned a hole in the upholstery. I tore a leg off my best pair of pants climbing through a barbed wire fence to get to a farmer who was registered with the other party. I paid for three barbecues and bought the fireworks for the town picnic. I shocked 80 acres of wheat and loaned $20 to a fellow who will never pay it back. I had 500 posters printed and gave them to a guy to tack up and he threw them in a culvert and put on my opponent's pictures. I was bitten by three dogs and kicked by a mule. I lost a front tooth in a fist fight, promised three old maids I would marry them, and held nine babies that weren't house broken. I lost two hats and a good luck dollar my father gave me when I was 21."

"That's certainly tough. And I

SPORT PEEPS

That House of David baseball team knows something about the art of making money in sport. Most of the players sport whiskers that would make your grand-dad's father envious. However one player this year failed to don the regulation adornment, Babe Dietrickson. She proved to be a clever player even if she could not make her chin sprout the badge of The House of David.

And now this unique team has offered Babe Ruth $35,000 to join their group, and manage the troupe. And as one "babe" did not have to grow the adornment for the chin, it is specifically stated this other "babe" will not have to do so. Ruth is over in Japan at present, receiving the plaudits of the Japs, and his answer has not been received.

Tennis may yet produce the greatest financial returns of any sport; that is to the individual. Several players have earned over $50,000 this season. The rattle of so much gold has caused Geo. Lott to leave the amateur ranks. Hollywood offers Fred Perry a contract of $100,000, spoken of as "amazing". There is a vast difference between the gentle batting of a wool ball over a net, as done 100 years ago, and the strenuous dashing, tremendous smashing of the resilient ball of today. Crowds pay big money to see a real game.

That last game in the World Series in Detroit saw prices for tickets rise to great heights. We heard of one chap who had three seats in a box. With the tax, he had paid $16. An offer of $75 was refused.

In the rugby contest for championship of Northern Alberta among the teams of the various districts, Gordon Campbell, former Viking boy, "100 pounds, a speedy and elusive player with plenty of courage."

An Early Pioneer

Jas. McKernan Was Third Man To Join The Mounted Police In 1873

Third man to join the old Royal North West Mounted Police when it was formed in Ottawa in the early 70's, James McKernan, 83, died at Edmonton recently.

Mr. McKernan came west in 1873 and was stationed first at Fort Macleod in the territory now in southern Alberta. On October 13 last while thumbing through his leather-bound diary the old-timer came across this entry written 60 years ago: "Mounted guard for the first time at Fort Macleod to-day — home, sweet home."

He settled near old Fort Edmonton in 1882 and in 1885 Mrs. McKernan and their four-year-old child took refuge behind the palisades of the fort then fearing Indian attacks in the rebellion, while Mr. McKernan rode patrol duty 50 miles south to warn settlers that the Indians might attack.

He was born in Richmond, Ont.

Criticism Often Unjust

The Ottawa Journal says most of us are quick to criticize the police. And our criticism is often unjust. For the miracle of police work, as it is organized to-day, is not that so many criminals escape, but that so many are apprehended. The public takes note of the few failures; it forgets the thousands of cases where the police succeed.

Praise Canadian Actress

Norma Shearer Is Complimented For Her English Diction

London drama critics are complimenting Norma Shearer, Montreal screen star, for her English diction.

When it became known a United States motion picture company was filming "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," some fans wrote the newspapers suggesting the king's English probably would be mangled by the American actress chosen to play the difficult role of Elizabeth Barrett. Then the picture was released in London, with the Canadian actress portraying Miss Barrett. The critic for The Daily Mail suggested in his column that Miss Shearer's accent should be studied by some of the British stars.

Motoring On Sunlight

Dutch Inventors Claim Harnessed Rays Supply Sufficient Energy

Motoring on sunlight instead of petrol is the latest scientific dream, based on a discovery by two Dutch inventors. Their men claim to have harnessed the sun's rays and multiplied their power a thousand times in a photo-electric cell, thereby manufacturing sufficient energy to drive a high-powered car or aeroplane engine. Already the sun has been made to work for man in Egypt, where by concentrating its rays on solar boilers enough natural steam is generated to drive low-pressure turbines. This new system will, if practicable bring about an industrial revolution.

World's Noisiest Bird

Cockatoo Can Draw Out Dozen Motor Car Horns

The scream of the peacock can be heard a mile away, but the noisiest bird in the world is the cockatoo. A single bird can make a din which would drown a dozen motor car horns and din the sound of a steam whistle. The bell-bird of Brazil is runner-up to the cockatoo. This white bird is about the size of a pigeon. It lifts its head in the air and makes a noise that sounds like the bang of a hammer on an anvil.

Russia's Giant Gun

"Big Lenin" Made By Creators Of Germany's "Big Bertha"

Batteries of a new gun named Big Lenin, which has a range of twenty-three miles, have been mounted by the Russians at Vladivostok.

It is claimed that this weapon outranges by seven miles the heaviest armament in Japan's capital ships.

A mobile battery mounted on trucks can be moved to different points on the railway.

The gun is forty-two feet long and has a special cooling apparatus which enables rapid fire without overheating.

The size of the projectile and the explosives used are carefully guarded secrets.

The gun is the work of German experts, some of whom were responsible for the creation of "Big Bertha," the weapon used to shell Paris at seventy-six miles' range.

Shooting The Fog

Secret Chemical Makes Air Clear In Few Seconds

Lightning raids on fog are foreshadowed by a secret chemical to which a trial was given recently. When a typical pea-soup specimen loomed up, engineers, having mounted their "guns," an array of centrifugal pipes suspended thirty feet horizontally above the ground fired streams of this liquid into its midst. In a few seconds a clear path was blazed in the gloom, and while the chemical attack lasted, every fog particle, as it came within range of 2,000 feet, was brought to earth in the form of water. It is anticipated that aerodromes will be among the first to install this new fog-clearing equipment. Already thousands of pounds are expended annually on special fog signals and guidance signals.

Colonel Bishop Is Making New Acquaintance With Controls

There is a pleasant thing of surprise in the report that Colonel W. A. Bishop, the Canadian aviator who destroyed a large number of enemy aeroplanes during the war and was awarded the V.C., is now learning to fly at Montreal. Apparently the Colonel was one of those who returned from his victories more or less to his civilian farm. It is said that he has not taken a machine into the air since 1922, and he feels that somebody had better be looking over his shoulder while he comes to terms with the controls again. Japs Hold First Place For Inventive Genius And Imitation

Our good friends the Japanese appear to have no limits so far as inventive genius is concerned. They have apparently discovered the secret of applying it to the imitation of anything that can possibly be manufactured in their own land. They have given the world bamboo fountain pens for a few cents; they have produced silk socks for a few cents; they have exported millions of parasols for a few cents. Now they are shipping tens of thousands of spare automobile parts for a few cents apiece.—Montreal Star.

Commercial canning is one of the oldest of the larger organized industries in Canada. Napoleon is credited as the originator of using air-tight containers for army rations, but the development of the industry is international. In 1809, in France, Francois Appert found that food put in air-tight containers required to be sterilized; an Englishman invented the tin can, and North America practically made canning the great industry it is to-day.

New Aid in Preventing Colds
Leads to Plan for Better
Control of Colds

PLAN EASY TO FOLLOW

Years ago, Vicks VapoRub, introduced the modern method of treating colds. Now, Vicks Chemists have developed the ideal companion to VapoRub—Vicks Vapo-rub—the new aid in preventing colds.

These two preparations, together with a few simple rules of health, form the unique Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. The helpfulness of Vicks Plan in reducing the number, duration and dangers of colds has been clinically tested by practicing physicians. (The Plan is fully explained in each Vicks package.) Here, briefly, is how Vicks Plan works:

To Help Prevent Colds

Watch yourself and children after exposure to any condition that is followed by a cold—such as: Contact with others having active colds—crowded, public places, stuffy ill-ventilated rooms—sudden changes in temperature, wet or cold, or unaccustomed exposures—excesses in living which lower resistance, such as over-eating, smoking, or drinking—after a hard day when you are overtired.

To Help Shorten a Cold

If a cold has developed or strikes without warning, apply Vicks VapoRub over throat and chest at bedtime. Through the skin, VapoRub acts direct like a poultice. At the same time, its medicated vapors are inhaled with every breath direct to the inflamed air-passages. This combined double action through the night—ens phlegm—soothes irritated membranes—eases difficult breathing—helps break congestion.

During the day—any time, any place—use Vicks Vapo-rub every few hours as needed. This gives you full 24-hour treatment without the risks of constant internal dosing, which so often unsettles the digestion—especially of children.

Trial Packages Free

Your druggist has free combination packages containing trial sizes of Vapo-rub and VapoRub—also folder telling how these twin aids to fewer and shorter colds are used in Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. Ask for yours today, as your druggist's supply is limited.

Dustin swung about to face a gray little figure that stiffened at sight of him. Slim Peters had been cashier of the Seco Bank for more than thirty years. Scotch by descent and cautious by nature, only once had he ventured to extend his activities beyond Seco. He was like Kipling's muskrat that all his life tried to muster courage to run to the middle of the floor. Peters mustered that courage once . . . and Dustin caught him with a loan of five thousand dollars on his house. That loan saved Peters his bank job but it made him the bond-slave of Sam Dustin.

"Just a moment, Peters. . . . Dustin drew him aside. . . . "How much money does old man Carr owe the bank? He got to know." "The bank?" Peters quavered. "He don't owe the bank at all, Mr. Dustin. He did owe the bank but old man Pegram took it up. It's a note and Mr. Pegram's wonderin' right now what to do with it. He's lost a lot of money and needs cash. . . . "How much is the note for?" "Well . . . Old Carr hasn't paid any interest on it for a year. It's about twelve thousand dollars right now. And I'll tell you more . . . Old man Pegram better let go all holds on it just as soon as he can. Old Carr's in a bad way."

"I've got a five thousand dollar note of yours, Peters," he said. "I'm secured by this house and lot, eh?" "Yes, sir. That's so. . . . Something hard in his throat seemed to choke the little gray cashier.

"That note of yours is due next week. I want that note of Carr that Pegram's got. See?" "I . . . I . . . I swear I don't see how I can fix it. It's Mr. Pegram's private business. I . . ."

More than ever did Slim Peters regret that accused flyer in wheat that was to remove him and his old wife from any danger of poverty. He made one final wriggle for escape. "As matters stand, I don't see how it can help you to own a half share of the Hour-glass ranch," he said. "Half of it! You're a plain fool, Peters. I'll own the whole place: Soda Springs and all," he added. "Old man Carr owns the Hour-glass, don't he?"

"He owns half of it," said Peters. "That's all. When old man Peter Vinton died, he left the Hour-glass half to Joe Carr, his old partner, and half to his sister's son, one Gerald Keene. When Carr wanted to borrow on his half of the place, we had to look up the will. That's how I know I saw the will. It says that if either Carr or Keene dies, his half goes to the survivor. . . ."

"For the love of God! . . . Dustin was breathless. . . . "Say that again."

"Peters said it again and Dustin, sure that he had not misheard, let go a smoke-screen of profanity. It was not the jovial profanity of good-nature but the vitriolic overflow of one who fears he has been hurt and who is not sure of the extent of the injury. In one brief kaleidoscopic moment the future of his plans seemed ed sure. If Gerald Keene, the nephew of old Peter Vinton, owned half the Hour-glass then he, Sam Dustin, even if he succeeded in ousting Joe Carr, was only getting a new partner whom he did not even know.

He sized old Peters and whirled him about in the moonlight to face him. There was but one thing to be done. Too much depended on what old Kane knew! That miserable old desert-rat could send him and Spike to look up the will. That's how I know I saw the will. It says that if either Carr or Keene dies, his half goes to the survivor. . . ."

"If you want to keep a roof over your old wife's head," he snarled, "you buy up for me every scrap of paper that old Carr has signed. I want to own the half-share of the Hour-glass. Get me?"

Peters gaped helplessly at him. "I mean what I say, you old fool. Where can I find this man Gerald Keene? The man who owns the other half of the Hour-glass?" "I don't know, Mr. Dustin. I swear I don't. Nobody knows. Even Mr. Carr don't know. He's been tryin' to find him through Mr. Burley of the Drovers Bank in Cato but he wrote us that he was handling Mr. Keene's business and that Mr. Keene was travelling somewhere and couldn't be reached just now."

Dustin granted disbelief but he could do nothing at present. He had plenty of money in the bank and Peters knew it. There was no question of the validity of the check that Dustin wrote at the hotel desk and passed to the gray-faced little cashier who took it shakily. He pouted it, refused a cigar and headed for the bank feeling like a condemned criminal who has received notice of an unexpected reprieve.

SYNOPSIS

"You've fallen near to a half-share in plenty of trouble," the lawyer told Gerald Keene. "The Broken Spur has been systematically looting the ranch, and old Joe Carr, your partner, is drinking himself into ruin."

But Keene decided to do so see what was happening for himself—not as Gerald Keene, half owner of the Hour-glass Ranch, but as Duro Stone, tenderfoot in a Montgomery Ward westward outfit.

Dad Kane, desert rat and luckless prospector till now is returning to tell Dustin and Spike Goddard, owners of the Broken Spur ranch, who had grubstaked him, of his discovery of a rich gold mine, and shows samples of the ore. He sees Broken Spur men rustling Hour-glass cattle and protests against it.

Spike Goddard and Sam Dustin, fearing the old prospector may tell others the things he has seen as to the branding of Carr's cattle, plot to seen 'em doing up in the hills. I headed him off in time and I don't think Raynor caught on to what he was sayin'. . . . What you goin' to do?" he asked sharply for Dustin, with a sharp little oath, was heading for the bunk-house.

Old Dad Kane, standing just inside the door, was suddenly snatched off his feet and was sent spinning against the wall. He turned like a flash and a rusty old six-gun, a cap and ball affair, was thrust under Dustin's nose.

"You keep yore hands where they're used to bein'. . . . In other men's pockets," snapped the old prospector. "What you want? Hey?" "To shut your fool head and to keep you from lettin' all the world in on what you found. You damned old fool! Don't you know that one word from Ed Raynor'll send a hundred men up Red Water? Come into the house. I want to talk to you." Wholly angry, sweating inchoate threats at every pore, Kane followed Dustin into the office. Once in the room Dustin turned on him:

"Look here, Dad. . . . His very tone was placating for he had time to reflect. . . . "It's all my fault. I just couldn't stand seer' our one chance of a fortune go glimmerin' just because you talk too damned much. I don't know just what you said but I do know that after a long time in the hills most men's jaws relax. You mustn't give any one even a hint that you found pay-dirt in the hills. If you do, we're busted. You knew well enough that one word of gold in Red Water will start a stampede up there. Where'll we be then?"

Vegreville Observer thinks Contest for Nomination Between Smith and Purvis

The Liberal nominating convention for the Dominion Electoral District of Camrose takes place on Friday, November 16th, at Camrose. According to arrangements made by the executive for the election of delegates, this convention will have a terrifying number present, around 425 in all, providing each poll is represented in full strength.

Three prospective candidates are in view: Hon. G. P. Smith, Mr. McIvor of Stettler and Mr. C. G. Purvis of Viking. So far as the Observer can find out, the choice is likely to lie between Mr. Smith and Mr. Purvis. The former will draw heavily for support in the west of the district, while Mr. Purvis looks for a strong delegation from the south and east, with Mr. McIvor bringing in his group from the Stettler area.

Mr. Purvis, residing at Viking, is one of our near neighbors. He is a lawyer by profession, but had an all-round good training in good, tough work. He came west in 1907 from Brockville, Ontario, and homesteaded near Irma. Like other homesteaders of those days, he did the necessary breaking with the yoke of oxen, interesting animals, calling for the exercise of unlimited patience, combined with a steady flow of expressive language. In this way, Mr. Purvis gained quite a reputation as an out-door orator, but this was later toned down to the confines of school teaching, which he tackled for a time. Among his other experiences was that of helping build the G.T.P., which feat he does not consider much of an asset today.

Later taking up the study of law and duly graduating, Mr. Purvis commenced practice in Viking and for nineteen years has been busy straightening out the legal tangles which have arisen round those parts. That he has been a square-shooter is evidenced by the fact that the people of his town and district are behind him to a man. Conservative as well as U.F.A. leaders have assured him of their support. Practising law in a country town and at the same time owning and farming one and one-half sections of land at Irma gives Mr. Purvis an excellent understanding of farm problems. If he should receive the nomination there is little doubt that he can rally the voters to the support of Liberalism.—Vegreville Observer.

Alf Lefsrud's Name To Go Before Camrose Liberal Fed. Convention

Alf Lefsrud, "dirt" farmer of Viking district, has consented to let his name go before the Liberal nominating convention for the Camrose federal riding to be held at Camrose on Friday, November 16th.

A large number of friends throughout the riding, many with a strong following in the Camrose and adjoining districts, have for some time pressed Mr. Lefsrud to let his name go before the convention as a nominee for the Liberal cause. They are now seeking support for him at the convention, and it is quite possible that he will have a stronger following at the convention than anyone anticipates at this writing.

Mr. Lefsrud has lived and farmed in the Viking district, 12 miles north of town, for the past twenty-five years, and is a young man who has some definite ideas on what should be done to rectify present-day conditions. He is a graduate of Camrose Lutheran College, and also attended the Alberta university.

Petty thieves have been at work in Irma recently. On Thursday night, November 1st, a spare tire and rim was stolen from Mr. Thos. Marsden's car in front of Maguire's service station. As the owner has a hunch where this outfit is, it might be a good idea to quietly return it and save further trouble.

J. C. McKay received a wire on Monday morning announcing the death of his brother-in-law, C. R. Thompson, of Boston, Mass. Mr. Thompson and family visited Irma some years ago and will be remembered by some of the older residents, who extend their sympathy to the brother and sisters, Mrs. Tripp and Mrs. Smallwood.
